

Bob Hill: Bob Hill is a retired Courier-Journal columnist and author of ten books on diverse subjects including Centre College, the Louisville Slugger, the Parklands of Floyd's Fork, Bi-polar illness, Double Jeopardy, a tale of a Louisville man who got away with murder. He also assisted Humana founder David Jones on his autobiography. Hill's academic honors include being the tallest kid in his class 12 years in a row. Bob Hill and his wife, Janet, have created Hidden Hill arboretum on their eight acres of land near Utica Indiana, including hundreds of trees, shrubs, plants, a pond, pasture, a Monarch butterfly oasis, and artistic whimsy.